

Madelina Nuñez is a Ph.D. student in American Studies at Purdue University and holds an M.A. in Latin American and Latino Studies from the University of Illinois at Chicago. In addition to her current research on halāl, or Islamically permissible, Latino food and foodways, her research interests include transnational foodways in the Americas, feminist and decolonial epistemologies, and critical race and ethnic studies.